Grading and evaluating student work in class and at the final exam	* Students are required to individually study the previously published study material, available on the Moodle LMS (case studies, scientific articles, chapters from scientific books, video materials), including the other students' individual assignments (research papers). Students are required to actively participate in the group's discussions of study materials (on exercises).  During the semester, students are required to continuously work on identifying a selected problem from the field of change management, or evaluating an information system for knowledge management. Students are required to perform independent research, create a research report, publish it on the Moodle LMS system and present it during the classes (which is described as the "seminar essay" above). Complete evaluation of student work is based on the following weights: - Evaluation of individual LO achievement – based on the independent research of a selected topic from the field of change management or evaluating an information system for knowledge management, including writing of the research report, its publication on the Moodle LMS and presentation during the classes (50% of the complete evaluation); - Evaluation of group LO achievement – based on the study of lecture materials, research reports of other students and active participation in group discussions during the exercises (50% of the complete evaluation). Score of an individual evaluation is presented as a percentage (on the scale of 0% to 100%). Overall evaluation is based on the weighted average score. The minimum score for the class to be successfully completed is 50% of the overall weighted average score. Marks, describing the LO achievement, are associated with the following values of the overall weighted average score: 50-58% - satisfactory (2) 59-71% - good (3) 72-84% - very good (4) 85-100% -excellent (5).
